INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Board of Directors and Stockholders of JAE Investments, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying balance sheet of JAE Investments, Inc. as of December 31, 2001 and the related statement of income and retained earnings, cash flows, and statements of changes in stockholders' equity for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial condition of JAE Investments, Inc. as of December 31, 2001 and the results of its operations and the related statement of income and retained earnings, cash flows, and statements of changes in stockholders' equity for the one month then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

My examination was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the financial statements taken as a whole. The information presented on the statement of computation of minimum capital requirements is not a required part of the financial statements, but in supplementary information required by the Commodity Exchange Act. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied to the examination of the financial statements and, in my opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

JAE Investments, Inc.
Parkland, Florida

We have examined the financial statements of JAE Investments, Inc. as of December 31, 2001 and have issued our report there on dated February 27, 2002. As part of our examination, we reviewed and tested the system of internal accounting control to the extent we considered necessary to evaluate the system as required by generally accepted auditing standards and by Rule 17a-5 contemplates that the scope of the review and tests should be sufficient to provide reasonable assurance that any material weakness existing at the date of our examination would be disclosed. Under these standards and that Rule the purposes of such evaluation are to establish a basis for reliance thereon in determining the nature, timing, and extend if other auditing procedures that are necessary for expressing an opinion on the financial statements and to provide a basis for reporting material weaknesses internal accounting control.

The objective of internal accounting control is to provide reasonable, but not absolute, assurance as to the safeguarding of assets against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and the reliability of financial records for preparing financial statements and maintaining accountability for assets. The concept of reasonable assurance recognized that the cost of a system of internal accounting control should not exceed the benefits derived and also recognized tat the evaluation of these factors necessarily requires estimates and judgements by management.

There are inherent limitations that should be recognized in considering the potential effectiveness of any system of internal accounting control. In the performance of most control procedures, errors can result from misunderstanding of instructions, mistakes of judgement, carelessness, or other personal factors.

Control procedures whose effectiveness depends upon segregation of duties can be circumvented by collusion. Similarly, control procedures can be circumvented intentionally by management with respect to the estimates and judgements required in the preparation of financial statements. Further, projection of any evaluation of internal accounting control to future periods is subject to the risk that the procedures may become inâdequate because of changes in conditions, and that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

Our study and evaluation of the system of internal accounting control for the period commencing January 1, 2001 to December 31, 2001, was made for the purposes set forth in the first paragraph above and would not necessarily disclose all weaknesses in the system which may have existed during the period under review, disclosed no weaknesses that I believe to be material.
